Great indignation is felt at this renewal of lawlessness. There is no elue to the perpetrators.

It said that the cropper on the place discovered water rising in the barn eaused by an overflow of a ereek near the barn, and fearing damage to the tobacco down in bulk placed part of the econ on a wagon under the baru shed Wednesday afternoon. The next morning upon going to the barn it was found that dynamite or some kind of explosive had been placed on a bulk and the wagon, resulting in slight damage to the tabaceo, but none to the barn.

Important Advance Step by The State Board of Health.

To the Médical Profession and People of Kentucky:-

The infamous practice of criminal abortion, infantile murder; to speak plainly, dangerous to the health and lives of women to an extont not generally realized, and a constant encouragement to immortality, has become so common in recent years, even with married women in the higher walks of lite, often church members and otherwise respectable, that the General Assembly has made it the solemn duty of the Board to revoke the license to practice of any physician proven guilty of this horrible erime. After full consideration the Board has desided to take up this work in a systematic way and to discharge the solemn duty imposed upon it without fear or favor. Get Out or Get in Line.

If all the letters, messages and speeches of Lincoln were destroyed, except that one letter to Hooker, we should still have a good index to the heart of the Rail-Splitter.

In this letter we see that Lincoln ruled his own spirit; and we also behold the fact that he could rule others. The letter shows frankness, kindliness, wit, tact, wise diplomacy and infinite patience.

Hooker had harshly and unjustly criticised Lincoln, his Commander-iu-Chief, and he had embarrassed Burn side, his ranking officer. But Lincoln waives all this in deference to the virtues that he believes Hooker possesses and promote him to succeed Burnside. In other words the man who who had wronged him, over the head of a man whom the promotee had wronged and for whom the promoter had a warm personal friendship.

Perhaps we had better give the letter entire, and so here it is.

What I now ask of you is military success, and I will risk the dictatorship.

The government will support you to the utmost of its ability, which is neither more nor less than it has done and will do for all commanders. I much fear that the spirit you have aided to infuse into the army, of criticising their commander and withholding confidence from him, will now turn upou you. I shall assist you as far as I can to put it down.

Neither you nor Napoleou, if he were alive again, could get any good out of an army while such a spirit the attack of cerebral elephantiasis to prevails in. And now beware of rashness; beware of rashness, but with energy and sleepless vigilance go forward and give us victories.

look how he calls Hooker's attention to the fact that the dissension Hook. er has sown is going to return and plague himl" Neither you, uor Napoleou, were he alive, could get any good out of an army while such a spirit prevails in it." Hooker's fault falls on Hooker-others suffer, but Hooker suffers most of all.

Not long ago I met a Yale student home on a vacation. I am aure he did not represent the true Yale spirit for he was full of criticism and bitterness-toward the itstitution. President Hadley came in for his share, and I was supplied items, facts, data, with time and places, for a "peach d of a roast."

Very soon I saw the trouble was not with Yale, the trouble was with the young man. He had mentally dwelt on some trivial slights until he had got so out of harmony with the instituion that he had lost the power to derive any benefit from it. Yale is uot a perfect institute—a fact, I suppose, that Presdient Hadley and most Yale men are quite willing to admit; but Yale does supply certain advantages, and it depends upon the student whether they will avail themselves of these advantages or not.

If you are a student in a oollege, seize upon the good that is there. You get good by giving it. You gain by giving—so give sympathy and elicerful loyalty to the institution. Be proud of it. Stand by your teachers-they are doing the best they ean. If the place is faulty, make it a better place by an example of cheerfully doing your work every day the best you can. Mind your own business.

If the concern where you are employed is all wrong, and the Oid Man a curmudgeon, it may be well for you to go to the Old Man and confidentially, quietly and kindly tell him that he is a curuudgeon. Explain to him that his policy is absurd and preposterous. The Pain Family

You know them; they are numerous and make their presence felt everywhere. The names of the family are Headache, Toothache, Earache, Backache, Stomach ache, Neuralgia, etc. They are sentinels that warn you of any derangement of your system. When the brain nerves become exhausted or irritated, Headache makes you miserable; if the stomach nerves are weak, indigestion results, and you double up with pain, and if the more prominent nerves are affected, Neuralgia simply makes life unendurable. The way to stop pain is to soothe and strengthen the nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do this. The whole Pain family yield to their influence. Harmless if taken as directed.

'I find Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills an axcellent remedy for overcoming headache, neuralgia and distressing pains of all sorts. I have used them for the past seven years in this capacity with the best of results."

Treasurer's Settlement!

Address Dr. Earl S. Sloan

615 Albany St. Boston. Mass

A Settlement made with the Judge of the Crittenden County Court by R. W. Wilson, Traeasurer of the Ohio Valley Railroad Commission for the Marion precinct in Crittenden County this the 5th day of January, 1907.

I find said Treasurer chargeable as follows: Tax for year 1904-J. W. Lamb, Sheriff $1,666,24 Tax for year 1906 in part collected from J. F: Flanary, Sheriff $1,515.00 Total chargeable $3,181.24 I find said Treasurer is justly entitled to credit as follows: Oct. 11. By amount due Treasurer as per last settlement July 13th, 1905 $ 298,46 By bonds Nos. 54 and 60, $500 each, paid 1,000.00 By bonds Nos. 23, 35 and 36 for $100 each paid 300,00 1907 By interest on coupon paid 34.88 Jan. 2. By bond No. 58, paid 500.00 By bond No. 61. paid 1000.00 Interest on coupons paid 15,00 5 per cent. Commission allowed Treasurer on $3.181.24 159.06 Cost of this settlement 3.00 Total Credits $3,310.40

Leaving balance due R. W. Wilson, Treasurer $129.16 This settlement does not include tax for year 1905 not yet paid the Treasurer by the Sheriff

Given under my hand this Jan. 5th, 1907.

W. A. BLACKBURN, C. J. C. C. There are outstanding bonds to the amount of $3,800.

When the sheriff makes his settlement with the treasurer for Railroad tax collected by him for the year 1605, the amount of bonds should be reduced to approximately $2,000.

There will probably be $500 more collected from Shcriff on Railroad tax for the year 1906 which will still further reduce the railroad indebted-

When the Railroad tax for the present year 1907 is all collected it should be ample to pay off all of the Railroad bonds of the Marion precinct, R. W. WILSON, T. R. R. S. F.

Obituary.

Died at her home Nov. 1, 1906. Alma May Crowell, daughter of V. V. Crowell, aged 14 years. On Wednesday evening about 6 o'clock she closed her eyes, no more to open them on earth. Like some delicate flower, too weak to stand the fitful changes of this world; like some lovely song. whose last cadcuee, so sad and low, we scarcely realize its force, her spirit passed over the river of death. In life she was amiable in death an angel. No one knew kind and affectionate to her sehoolmates and to her teacher obedient. They say if our blessed dead

Criticism on Milton's Minor Poems

By MISS MAY TRAVIS

Read before Senior English class of Marion High School Dec. 12.

Milton, the author of "Paradise Lost" is so transcendently great that he quit over shadows Milton, the author of L'Allegro, Il Penseroso, Arcades, Comus, and, Layerdas. Yet had the latter been all that he ever wrote they would place him almost as high as Shakespeare. "Loathed melancholy, 'heart-easing mirth," 'hrooding Darkness," "wrinkled Care," in L' Allegro, and "vain deluding Joys, 'divinest melaneholy,' "mute silence," "deny-feathered sleep," in Il Penseroso are examples of this. Milton regarded man as the theme around which the rest of the poem should be gronped and therefore he gave added force to the thought hy personifying these things.

These two poems are the hest portrait which we could have of Milton at this time. They prove that he "Meadows trim, with daisies pied, in was a close student of nature and he must have used his eyes to good advantage for greatly as he depended on hooks for his knowledge of nature and shadows brown that Sylvan he certainly had some intimate experieuce of his own while living in As plainly almost as if they were the country sor Horton is situated in a very hsautiful part of England. Comus teaches that purity and innocence can tread the darkest paths and most tangled mazes of earth without receiving harm and this through the inherent strength of goodness. Milton enjoyed the masks quite as keenly as any courtier of Charles I and in Comus he wished to set forth in finer and more glourious verse than had been dedicated to courtly tastes, the battle between virtue and its tempters and the Divine help which is always aiding it. We see that the very powers of Heaven come down to protect and care for assailed Innocence and that virtue is a mighty power within itself

Lities Not Adapted to Operate Business Enterprises-Loss of Capital Through New Developments - The Danger a Real One.

It is becoming more and more generally recognized that undertakings founded on the great public needs of the highly organized society of modern times should be controlled by society. Whether, having the power, it is advisable that municipalities should actually engage in such undertakings or whether they should merely maintain their control, as it has been aptly put, through their powers as a landlord, is a matter which will be determined by the municipalities from political, social and economic as well as engineering

Considering the question from its engineering side alone, it is found that from the very essential nature of the matter only a certain class of eugineering undertakings can be efficiently und properly operated by states or municipalities. It is very important that this limitation should be recognized, as where the limitation has been overstepped it has resulted in heavy financini losses to the governing bodies immediately concerned, it has seriously checked devolopment in engineering lines, and these results have in consequence afforded a strong argument to those opposed to municipal operation of public utilities.

It is true that under state or municipal operation some minor and sporadie developments may be expected, but nothing of a general or important character. Important developments generally come only from the hands of individunts or bodies responsible only to theuseives and provided with the incentive of a large profit. The elimination of self responsibility and incentive would inevitably produce a condition in industrial and scientific development analogous to the dark ages.

It is to be noted that this conclusion is derived from engineering cousiderations aione and does not include any consideration from the political, social or economic side. There may, it is conceivable, be political, social and economic considerations which tend to affect this limitation. Considered, however, from the engineering standpoint alone there can be no question but that the field of state and municipal operation should be limited to undertakings in which there is no immediate prospect of or need for improved

A dauger which is niways associated with the ownership of industrini undertakings is that the capital invested may be lost through the development of new and cheaper methods and processes. The extent to which industrial machinery of certain types is rendered obsolete by new improvements s not always realized. The writer is personally acquainted with one street car railroad plant in which the entire electrical equipment of the power house was thrown out and replaced with improved machinery four times within a period of ten years. The Carnegle company is reported, correctly, it is believed, to have scrapped ou one occasiou more thau $1,000,000 worth of new machinery which had never been used.

This has already become a serious matter for many municipalities which have engaged in undertakings lying outside of the engineering limits defined above. Many of these municipalities installed plants for the production of electric light at a time prior to the advent of important improvements in generating and distributing electricity, and as these municipalities in common with most municipalities made no proper allowance for depreciation the capital invested has been practically lost, and in addition the cost of electric light to the consumer is much higher thau it is in other places equiptypes of muchinery. In addition, heavy and expensive repairs have been necesmunicipalities, since the heavy rutes have caused manufacturers to move away to other towns, and this again has still further increased the burden upon those remaining. There are niready indications that n considerable number of these municipalities which have engaged in improper undertakings are entering upon a period of financial is richly weighted with indifficulty.-R. A. Fessenden.

Singular Austrian Law.

A few days ago the nurderer of Mr. Reid, the Pai-ley man who mysteriously disappeared from Heldelberg last July, having been arrested in their reports, which will be Finance. Martin Grover. He was really sitting Anstria, was tried at Feldkirch and was convicted and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment.

The case Illustrates a singularity of the Austrian criminal law. Generally speaking, a premeditated murder is punishable by death in Austria, but it cases where between the time of the murder and the arrest the prisoner has been punished for some other crime a sentence of capital punishment cannot be passed upon him.

in this case the murderer had served a week's imprisonment for jetty theft about January of this year, and to this circumstance alone he is indebted for his life.

Husband and Wife.

The best hu-band is the philosopher who knows how to accommodate himself to conditions.

The best wife is she who has learned mutual concessions are better than grand principles.

The best husband is a diplomat, who, whatever he thinks of the government. serves his queen.

The best wife is she who gives a queen to serve. The best husband is he that does what he wants, but always makes his wife think that she inspires his wishes. The best wife is she who, whatever she knows, is content to ask and receive only his higher nature, and does not wreck the ship if another woman receives his lower. The best husband should keep: The tenderness of a lover;

The companionship of a comrade: The freedom of a friend; The watchfulness of a father; The playfulness of a son;

The attention of a stranger. And the best wife will respond to all; be his known and unknown companion friend and child-all in one.

Home Economies By MINNA S. CRAWFORD.

There was a time when tolk regarded the serious study of dress and fashion as an evidence of pure vanity. Nowadays such study has come to be a real necessity, for in modern life a woman cannot hope to attain success of any kind, social or financial, unless she presents an attractive outward appearance and her clothing bears those indefinable yet very apparent touches that are recognized as the hallmarks of recent shaping and style.

To veer with the ever-changing weathercock of fashion and conform with its demands upon the limit of a small income requires a very high order if tinancial ability, as well as superior taste and judgment. Hence, the woman who is wise gives the question of apparel a great deal of time and thought. The many quick and radical changes in fashions are enough to drive the economically-minded to despair. they will not bear that look of relationship which is needful to prevent the waist from looking like patchwork. Sleeves in their present state of overclaboration help to solve the problem of their making over. This applies, of course, chiefly to sleeves of dressy waists require different treatment.

The sleeve decoration of an afternoon, theater or party waist usually partakes of the trimming characteristics of the yoke, but in the matter of shaping the styles are unusually elastic. sleeves consist of a single small puff scarcely reaching to the elbow, others are made of a succession of such puffs with shaped empicements of the velvet joined together with lace bands. A narrow sleeve, if sufficiently long, can have the upper sleeve portion slit lengthwise three times and gathered up to clbow length and joined with three bands of heavy lace. Narrow straps of material with edges turned in and stitched make a very effective over-trimming to not wider than four inches at the botuse across broad lace bandings, or to suggest a vestee effect at front of waist. These straps should be about threeeighths of an inch wide and may he made of either straight or bias material; each little strap should have a small button or tiny braid ornament at both ends. Very pretty braid ornaments can be made of narrow white or colored sontache braid by simply casting a chain of five stitches with an ordinary zephyr than last, and no one would ever suscrochet-hook, then drawing the end at which you begin through the sixth loop; pull both ends closely and fasten with thread and needle before cutting off.

The inside edges, that is, the olge of the gore nearest the center, was left unstitched to permit the introduction of the ends of narrow tailor-stitched straps of broadcloth, also of the same shade as the suit. These straps were a medallions or other trimming so dis- dresses and suits are more severe and scant half inch in width and were cut into inch and a quarter lengths. The one end of each strap was placed under the inside edge of the overlapping cloth and held in place by the stitching. The free ends of the straps were tacked over the opposite edge of overlapping cloth and fastened with small braid ornaments made as those described above. The flat collar and the cuffs were trimmed slip stitched to place.

The skirt, which was of the circular variety, presented a more difficult problem. It was ripped from the band, the back plaits and placket opened, and cut apart through the center of the front, into which a very narrow gore of velvet, tom, was introduced. This gore was cut the full length wanted. The skirt was then fitted to a velvet yoke which had two nine inch tabs at each side. The edges of the velvet overlapped the cloth and were stitched to place. Narrow straps of the broadcloth crossed the velvet panel in front and at the side; these had the braid ornaments at each end. 1,000 PRIZES WILL BE DISTRIBUTED among those sending the best answers to the above Puzzle.

For the best, briefest and clearest correct solution, $100 in Gold. If two or more correct solutions are of equal merit in respect to brevity and clearness, the $100,00 will be equally divided For the three next best, briefest and clearest correct solutions. $50 each in Gold. Subject to sub-division if there are more than three of equal merit.

A valuable prize ("700 WONDERFUL CHINESE PUZZLES," by Sam Loyd) will also be sent free to the next 996 best, briefest and clearest correct answers.

This is the first of a Series of Prize Puzzie Contests which the publishers of Cheerful Moments are inaugurating, to call attention to the unrivalled merits of their publication. If you are good at solving puzzies, you'll surely want to subscribe to Cheerful Moments for there will be many chances to win valuable prizes.

The puzzles are devised by Mr. Sam Loyd, the greatest living puzzle expert and mathematician. They are all remarkably clever, and will be found in every case capable of a simple solution.

These contests are open to every one without any charge, and it is not necessary to be a subscriber to Cheerful Moments to enter them, on the contrary the publishers of Cheerful Moments welcome answers from everyone who reads these advertisements a eling assured that they will be so interested that they will become subscribers and regular readers of their Magazine.

Cheerful Moments is a publication that has enjoyed a high reputation for many years, and is especially sulted for home reading. It devotes a page in each number to a puzzle department, in which it would like every reader of this advertisement to become interested. The determination of the merits of all answers is to rest finally with the Puzzle Editor of Cheerful Moments.

The Correct Answer and the Announcement of Awards of above puzzie, and those that follow, will appear only in Cheerful Moments. The subscription is 25 cents a year, or it will be sent four months for 10 cents. Address your reply to PUZZLE EDITOR, CHEERFUL MOMENTS, 204 William Street, New York
